Induction Attend Anywhere now available on AWS Marketplace

Induction Healthcare has announced Asia Pacific availability of Induction Attend Anywhere, its remote consultation platform, in Amazon Web Services (AWS) Marketplace, a curated digital catalog that makes it easy for customers to find, buy, deploy, and manage third-party software licenses.

Induction Attend Anywhere provides patients with a fast and frictionless way to access their clinician or care team using a video call from their own device. Built for healthcare, it mirrors the clinical workflow and enables organisations running many clinics to deploy remote consultation across their entire operation simply, safely and securely.

Already used at scale across England's National Health Service (NHS) in over 70% of UK Trusts, the platform has been responsible for conducting over 6 million video consultations to date. The solution is proven to be effective in saving time, costs and reducing DNAs (Did Not Attends) for healthcare organisations. An independent report by Edge Health highlighted the following benefits (Video Consultations in Secondary Care \(edgehealth.co.uk\)):

- 159.1 million miles saved of patient travel
- £84.4 million saved in patient travel costs
- £7.7 million saved in avoiding DNAs.

Birmingham Community Healthcare Foundation Trust was an early adopter of the technology. Chief Clinical Informatics Officer, Jon Higham, who led implementation at the hospital, commented: ‘‘At the outset of the pandemic, video consultations helped us to maintain service continuity and limit face to face contact, keeping our patients and staff safe. Today they are integral to delivering more convenient, accessible care for our patients, business as usual. Whilst video consultations are not suitable for all clinical encounters the increased flexibility has helped us tackle waiting lists, and through careful patient selection ensuring the same level of care as a face-to-face appointment. Importantly, a solution like Induction Attend Anywhere is designed for healthcare settings and features like waiting rooms and group consultation supports clinical workflows. It’s easy to use and many of our patients have really embraced the choice to see a health professional from the comfort of their own home.’

Induction Attend Anywhere is available to Asia Pacific AWS Marketplace customers with immediate effect. This extends Induction Healthcare's existing collaboration with AWS, with Attend Anywhere already hosted on the AWS. Induction aims to provide the most secure and optimal healthcare solutions for professionals and patients through its committed relationship with AWS, the world's most comprehensive and broadly adopted cloud.

“Induction Attend Anywhere is the most widely used video consultation management and delivery platform across UK NHS hospitals. We are very proud that it was designed, and continues to be developed, by our team based in Australia. We are thrilled to now offer this bespoke healthcare solution to our local customer base in the AWS Marketplace. The platform is built on AWS, so it makes AWS Marketplace the perfect choice for us. We hope to expand our customer reach and grow our Asia Pacific business, to realise opportunities and avenues for innovation and advancement,” said Tim Deveson, General Manager in Asia Pacific for Induction Healthcare.
